

Paylocity Honored as One of the Best Places to Work in 2018 Glassdoor Employees' Choice Award

December 6, 2017

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill., Dec. 06, 2017 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Paylocity Holding Corporation (Nasdaq:PCTY), a provider of payroll and human capital management (HCM) software solutions, has been recognized as the #29 Best Place to Work in the Glassdoor Employees' Choice Award. Glassdoor, one of the world's largest and fastest-growing job sites, released its list today.

"Paylocity employees have always been the foundation of our cultural success, and this recognition illustrates how and why working at Paylocity is such a special experience," said Steve Beauchamp, Chief Executive Officer at Paylocity. "I'm incredibly proud of our employees for setting the bar higher each and every day, especially as we continue evolving our culture, innovation, and level of service.

Paylocity is known for having an empowering, rewarding, and creatively collaborative culture. All employees are encouraged to take initiative, embrace change, and voice their opinions. With a large percentage of team members working partly or entirely remote, Paylocity invests significantly in technology and resources to enhance the remote team member experience. Company-wide, perks include excellent medical and retirement benefits; paid parental leave; generous time off; community service opportunities; free, healthy snacks; social events; and more.

The Best Places to Work are identified by analyzing company reviews shared by U.S.-based employees within the last year. Reviews include details on key workplace factors like career opportunities, compensation, benefits, work/life balance, senior management, and culture and values. Companies in the large category, including Paylocity, must have at least 1,000 employees and have received at least 75 reviews from U.S.-based employees during the eligibility period. The final list is compiled based on Glassdoor's proprietary algorithm, which takes into account quantity, quality, and consistency of reviews.

In addition to being recognized for the second year in a row as one of the Best Places to Work, Paylocity was also named by Glassdoor to its 2017 Best Places to Interview list, and Paylocity CEO Steve Beauchamp was named to the job site's 2017 Highest-Rated CEOs list.
