Paylocity Receives A+ Rating from the Better Business Bureau

Paylocity is delighted to receive an A+ rating from the Better Business Bureau (BBB). For over 80 years, the BBB has continued to educate consumers and companies concerning their responsibility in maintaining an ethical marketplace. BBB Accreditation means that Paylocity meets or exceeds BBB standards, and is a business that can be trusted.

"We are proud to be recognized by the BBB for our commitment to maintaining a professional and ethical relationship with our clients," says Steve Beauchamp.

About Paylocity Since 1997, Paylocity's mission has been to bring Payroll and HR departments, and the professionals who run them, out of the backroom and into the front office by arming them with the same technology and tools available to their peers in departments like Finance, Sales, and Operations. The tools we offer provide critical business insight and intelligence that afford better decision making. By utilizing these tools, Payroll & HR departments can help every department in the organization achieve higher productivity as well as employee engagement and socialization.
